

Field Naturalist

INSIDE THE OUTDOORS

$15.00 per hour

Orange County Department of Education

We are currently recruiting for energetic professionals to serve as Field Naturalists for the OCDE Inside the Outdoors (ITO) program. Our ITO programs are unique, hands-on science, social science, and environmental education programs. Field Naturalists teach science and environmental education to students, preschool through twelfth grade. The students spend the day at one of the various field sites. Students study tidepool, chaparral, riparian (stream), and estuary ecosystems. Information on Native American lifestyles, living history, and geology are also integrated into the program. www.edjoin.org/ocde To apply, please visit www.edjoin.org/ocde
